HUNTER KILLED BY ACCIDENTAL SHOT

Jack Bryan, Son of 'Squire Bryan, an, the Victim.

Was Hunting Near Lamont When Hammer of His Gun Caught on a Fence and Gun Went Off.

DEATH WAS INSTANTANEOUS

Jack Bryan, aged 15, of Lamont, this county, 12 miles from Paducah on the Cairo road, was killed yesterday afternoon late by the accidental discharge of a shotgun he was carrying. His only companion was a cousin, Roy Bryan, of Paducah, who ran for help as soon as the gun was discharged, but the youth expired before his companion left him, half of his head having been blown off by the load of shot.

Yesterday shortly after noon the two boys, Jack Bryan, son of Former Magistrate Norfleet Bryan, now a prominent merchant of Lamont, and his cousin, Roy Bryan, of the city, son of Mr. Mark Bryan, started out on a hunt. They hunted several hours and late in the afternoon started home. They were in the neighborhood of McKendree church and encountered a barbed wire fence. Both boys mounted the fence and gained the opposite side, leaving the gun on the side they had left.

Jack Bryan reached in to pull the gun through, and before he had succeeded the hammer caught in the fence, it is presumed, and the gun was discharged.

The boy never uttered a sound, but fell lifeless to the ground with nearly half his head blown off. His companion stood amazed for a moment and then ran for help.

The unfortunate youth was well-known in that section of the county. He leaves a mother, father, one sister, Miss Ella Bryan, stenographer for County Judge R. T. Lightfoot, of this city, and a brother in Cairo, Mr. Eugene Bryan.

He leaves an uncle here, Mr. Mark Bryan, and a cousin, Roy Bryan, who was hunting with him. Mr. Crockett Bryan, of Corinth, Miss., is also a cousin, and was in the city last night when word of the accident reached here. He was compelled to return home today, and could not stay for the funeral.

The load from the gun struck young Bryan in the left side of the face and tore away half his head. It is said. Physicians were summoned but the boy had been killed instantly. His body was taken to his home near Lamont and prepared for burial.

Coroner Crow returned this afternoon, and reported that the jury returned the following verdict:

We, the jury, duly impaneled and sworn to inquire into the death of William Homer Bryan, known as "Jack" Bryan, find, after hearing the evidence, that he came to his death from the accidental discharge of a shotgun.

(Signed) A. T. COCKRELL,

The burial will be at McKendree church in the Odd Fellows' cemetery to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock.

OIL STOVE EXPLODES

And Burns One Woman to Death—27 Families Routed Out.

Minneapolis, Dec. 29.—Fire caused by the explosion of an oil stove in the apartments of Mrs. Loraine Buckniff, burned her to death, and Mrs. Mary Foley will probably die from burns received in attempting to rescue Mrs. Buckniff. A dozen others were injured or overcome and twenty-seven families were routed out from an adjoining tenements.

COAL FAMINE.

Is Threatening the Northwest Because of Car Shortage.

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 29.—The entire northwest is threatened with a coal famine. The supply on the docks at Duluth is far below that of last year at this time. The car shortage in the east has prevented coal being shipped overland.

MANY SURPRISES AT LOUISVILLE TODAY

Louisville Delegation Goes Over to Miller for Speaker.

This Is Said to Defeat Lawrence, the Machine Candidate, for the Honor.

OLLIE JAMES JAILS THE "ANTIS"

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 29.—The surprise of the morning in the political battle being waged in the lobby and rooms of the Old Ian, were the announcements that Thomas Drewry, of Louisville delegation, had withdrawn from the speakership contest, and that the strength of the Louisville delegation would go to Hon. R. W. Miller, of Madison, and the further announcement that Senator C. H. Beton, of Clark, has gone back to the Blackburn side in the senatorial race.

The consensus of opinion among the assembled politicians and legislators is that the action of the Louisville members will determine the speakership fight and further signed cards are expected from members relative to the senatorial race before the caucus is assembled at Frankfort. A hasty conference of friends and supporters of Henry Lawrence, the Paynter candidate for speaker, was called shortly after 8 o'clock upon the conclusion of which Mr. Lawrence still expressed confidence. Miller was surrounded by crowds of friends in the lobby during the morning and to all declared that in his opinion the race is over.

Congressman James, of the First district, arrived in the city today and jarred the anti-administration forces to no small degree by declaring unqualifiedly for Lawrence for speaker.

Congressman James said he was taking no part in the senatorial race, but his announcement has added at least two votes to the Lawrence column.

Congressman James' advocacy of Lawrence's candidacy is thought to be only because they are both First district men.

It is reported that the Haldeman men are trying to make themselves solid with Blackburn's supporters and get the latter's support in case Blackburn cannot win. They could have made the same play with the machine men, and the fact that they preferred to take the Blackburn end, indicates to Paynter's friends that the Louisville delegation does not believe that Blackburn can win.

COMMERCIAL CLUB

Held a Profitable Meeting at Headquarters Last Night.

An open meeting of the Commercial club was held last night at headquarters on Legal Row. There were many private citizens present and also some municipal board members.

The upbuilding of the city in general was one point of discussion, but the principal topic was the city exempting industries from taxation for five years as an inducement to locate here. There has been some friction among board members relative to this point and the municipal board members who were present promised to do what they could to see that this inducement is offered to all alike.

REVOLT SEEMS PRACTICALLY OVER

Moscow Reports Better Conditions,
But Still Fighting.

The Strike at Odessa Worse—Poland
Is Still Reported to Be Quiet.

GENERAL STRIKE WEAKENING.

London, Dec. 29.—The Times prints a dispatch from Moscow dated December 27 which says: "If the revolutionaries could secure guns they would be assured of victory and the troops would be obliged to take refuge in the Kremlin where the governor general and other authorities have already sought safety. Fortunately the arsenal is inside the Kremlin."

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Times reports that relations between Russia and Germany are distinctly strained and that there is a possibility of internal complications arising from the rebellion in the Baltic provinces.

A dispatch to the Mail from St. Petersburg says the revolutionists in the Pryessnaya quarters of Moscow are negotiating for terms of surrender with the authorities.

Estranged From Cassie.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 29.—Dr. Leroy Chadwick has apparently become estranged from his wife, Mrs. Cassie Chadwick. This is said to be evident from letters recently received here from him. He has not seen her or communicated with her in any manner for months. Dr. Chadwick is clerking in his brother's furniture store in Jacksonville, Fla., where his daughter Mary, attends a seminary for girls.

Germany Remains Firm.

Glasgow, Dec. 29.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Herald confirms the report of the London Times correspondent to the effect that a crisis in the Baltic provinces has led to international complications and the exchange of sharp notes between St. Petersburg and Berlin. Russia, angered by the proposal of Germany to send a warship to Riga to protect the German residents, made a warm protest against the action, but Germany insists upon the necessity of affording protection to her subjects in the Baltic regions.

Killed the Police Chief.

Moscow, Dec. 29.—All members of the social revolutionary committee have been arrested and a number of bombs, infernal machines and correspondence seized. Three hundred revolutionaries yesterday invaded the residence of the chief of the secret police and killed him.

At the medical bureau 650 wounded and 105 killed have been registered but it is known that there are fully 1,000 unidentified dead in Louthow quarter alone.

A mob of armed revolutionaries attacked the police bureau but were repulsed with serious losses.

Martial Law at Odessa.

Odessa, Dec. 29.—Martial law has been proclaimed in this city. The strike, however, is heavily over. Hundreds of arrests have been made.

Strike Unsuccessful.

Warsaw, Dec. 29.—An attempt by the strikers to stop the railroads in Poland was not successful and a majority of them are still running.

Strike Stronger at Warsaw.

Warsaw, Dec. 29.—The general strike is growing stronger. Compositors have struck again and no newspapers appeared today. The tram cars have stopped and most of the shops have closed down. It is quiet at present but the situation is unsatisfactory.

No One Wanted to Leave.

Danzig, Prussia, Dec. 29.—The steamer Freda, chartered by the British consulate to convey British residents from Riga, returned to this city without a single passenger.

To Take Over Macedonian Finance.

Constantinople, Dec. 29.—The passage of the control of Macedonian finances into the hands of the powers is to occur New Year's day. Zeebry, a Turkish member of the financial commission, has been named to have charge and has already left to assume his duties.

GUNBOAT PADUCAH ENTERS SERVICE

Dispatched to San Domingo to Protect Americans There.

Believed That the Revolution Will Fall—Much Doubt, However.

U. S. WILL KEEP HANDS OFF

GUNBOAT PADUCAH DISPATCHED.
Washington, D. C., Dec. 29.—The gunboat Paducah has been dispatched to San Domingo to guard American interests. She left Norfolk yesterday for Monte Christi. The Paducah's companion vessel, the Dubuque, is also on her way to Monte Christi from Puerto Plata, San Domingo.

The cruiser Dixie will be sent as soon as she can be commissioned, and these vessels will be attached to American fleet in those waters and help guard American interests. This is the first little Paducah's first actual service in the navy.

Vice President in Charge.

Washington, Dec. 29.—Minister Dawson has notified the state department that official notice has been given the diplomatic representatives in Santo Domingo through To Jera, minister of foreign affairs, that President Morales, having abandoned the capital and left the government without an active head, the cabinet has called Vice President Ramon Caceres to take charge.

The cabinet is now executing its functions and President Morales is miles from the capital, with a revolutionary hand. Fighting is in progress there.

It is learned that the United States government does not intend to interfere with the internal troubles of Santo Domingo, but that it will not permit the custom houses to be disturbed.

The modus vivendi will be maintained. Vice President Caceres is supposed to be in Monte Cristi. He will go on to Santo Domingo at once.

It is not believed that Morales will win in his fight.

The decision of this government to uphold the custom houses in case they are placed in jeopardy was reached in the conferences between the president and Secretaries Root, Taft, and Bonaparte. The president believes it would create a dangerous situation if the custom houses were seized by other political factions. The breaking of the modus vivendi would probably lead to some action on the part of the foreign nations, which represent many creditors of Santo Domingo. These include Germany, France, Italy and Belgium.

Morales Will Probably Lose.

The outcome of the attempted revolution on the part of President Morales is still somewhat in doubt, but it is thought there that the Jiministas, with whom he has thrown in his lot, are not anywhere near strong enough to down the Horastis, the party which has been in control for a year and a half, with Morales as its president. The cabinet is now controlled by the Horastis, and Caceres, the new acting president, is a member of that faction.

It was learned that Morales had long been suspected of being in league with the opposition. The Horastis will probably remain in control. The party is in control of the modus vivendi and the treaty. If Morales falls in his efforts to make a government suitable to himself the interests of the administration will probably not be affected.

The chief concern in the situation, here relates to the effect of the present trouble on the treaty not before the United States senate. The administration view is that the fight of Morales does not affect the legal status of the treaty in any way.

The state department's position is that the fight of Morales, with whose government the treaty was negotiated, has not overturned the government in any sense, Morales has gone, but the Horastis regime continues.

Friends to the United States.

The new government, or rather the new head of the old government, is said to be friendly to the policies of President Roosevelt. It is asserted here that Vice President Caceres is in thorough sympathy with everything this government has done to keep the republic afloat and that he will lend his influence to the movement to ratify the treaty that is now pending. In this position Caceres is said to be backed up by the members of the cabinet.

If this should prove to be the case it will greatly simplify matters, for the dropping out of sight of Morales may then be entirely overlooked.

The chief danger is that the new revolutionary forces may overthrow the Caceres dynasty, in which event the pending treaty can hardly be claimed to have any status at all.

The Roosevelt administration will proceed on the theory that the Morales incident merely emphasizes the necessity for the prompt ratification of the treaty. It will not be withdrawn or abandoned by the administration, at least not so long as Caceres and the friendly cabinet are in control.

2,000 Driven to Street By Fire.

New York, Dec. 29.—Three hundred families, comprising two thousand persons, were driven from their homes thinly clad this morning by a fire in the tenement district. A cold wind and rainstorm prevailed but all reached the streets in safety. The fire was confined to a stable. Loss $30,000.

Conductor Murphy Dies.

Jackson, Tenn., Dec. 29.—Conductor Will J. Murphy of the Illinois Central railroad, died yesterday of injuries received in the wreck which occurred last Friday morning just north of Holly Springs, Miss. He is the third victim to die from injuries received in this wreck, and was in charge of the train that fateful morning. He was paralyzed on one side and injured internally and was unconscious much of the time after the first few hours. After he had been taken from the wreck, he lay upon the ground with a blanket around him and gave orders for the rescue and safety of others, though he was unable to sit up himself. Mr. Murphy was about 45 years of age, a fine specimen of manhood, chief conductor of this division of the O. R. C., and popular with officials, employees and the public. He was trainmaster a few years ago and could have held other higher positions, but voluntarily resigned, preferring to run his train. He had been with the I. C. about 23 years. He leaves a wife and one son.

EAST TENNESSEE ENJOINS THE CITY

It Takes Its Case Into Federal Court for Settlement.

Motion For a Temporary Injunction Comes Up at Louisville Tomorrow.

WILL PROBABLY END THE FIGHT

The East Tennessee Telephone company today filed an injunction suit against the City of Paducah in the Federal court at Louisville, seeking to enjoin the city from interfering with the rights and privileges and from interfering in any way, with the operation of the company in the city of Paducah.

A motion for a temporary injunction is to be argued tomorrow at 10 a. m. at Louisville before Judge Walter Evans, of the Western District of Kentucky, and this suit will probably finally settle for all time to come the controversy between the telephone company and the city, as it can be taken to the supreme court of the United States if the losing side desires.

Briefly stated, the East Tennessee Telephone company claims that it operates under a legislative grant which is perpetual, and which cannot be abridged or modified by a municipal board. The grant was secured before Kentucky had franchises, and when the new constitution was adopted and franchises came into existence, it was claimed that the law could not be made retroactive, or, in other words, could not force any person or company that already had a legal right to do business, to buy a franchise in order to do business thereafter.

The city about two years ago, after allowing the company to operate a dozen or more years without a franchise, decided that it was necessary for it to get one, but the company refused. Once a suit was brought to "oust" it but it was compromised by the company paying the city $3,000. Later and recently another disagreement arose between the company and city.

The city filed another suit to oust the company, but Judge Reed, in circuit court threw it out on the ground that the city had no authority to bring such a suit.

It was held that the name of the attorney general of the state should be joined as one of the plaintiffs, but before the suit could be changed the city solicitor decided that the city could not expect to win until it returned to the company the $3,000 it had accepted in lieu of all claims the city held against the company. The city hasn't the money to pay back, and so set about to fight the company in other ways.

The board of public works, in pursuance of orders from the legislative boards, Wednesday afternoon issued orders that the company was not to be issued any more permits in Paducah for any purpose. The company then decided to have the question of its rights settled once for all, and has appealed to federal court, alleging that its authority to do business in Paducah came from the legislature of Kentucky, and that the city cannot curtail it.

The injunction suit was filed by Wheeler, Hughes and Berry, and Mr. Wheeler, who filed the papers at Louisville today will remain there and argue the motion for a temporary injunction for the company to-morrow. City Solicitor James Campbell, Jr., will go up tonight to argue the case for the city.

LOSSES ADJUSTED.

Settlements Made With John L. Jones and the Red Men.

Mr. N. S. King, of Cincinnati, an adjuster for the Hartford Insurance company, and Mr. John L. Smith, of Louisville, adjuster for the Hamburg-Bremen, have settled the loss to John L. Jones, a furniture dealer on North Fourth street, and Otega Tribe of Red Men, who were recently damaged by fire. The loss was almost total. The settlements were mutually satisfactory. Mr. King returns to Cincinnati tonight and Mr. Smith left today for Louisville. The amounts were not given out but Jones will probably get about $4,000 and the Red Men close to $1,000.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 29.—The Indianapolis Northern and Union Traction company was sued for $7,500 damages at Kokomo Wednesday on a charge which has raised a new point in law. William Topping was killed last September by a traction car and his sister and only heir says in her complaint that her brother died possessed of a valuable trade secret in the manufacture of paper and that the secret died with him, thereby cutting her out of a large income. She says she also loaned the brother $2,000 for use in developing the secret process and that the money had not been returned.

Theatrical Notes

Charles Allen, father of Viola Allen, celebrated his 73rd birthday in New York last week. He is active and spry as ever, and has never missed a season in his daughter's support, having been with her ever since her original success in "The Christian."

J. Lee McClure, the elongated bunch of fun, who, as Artie Tre Billon, in Willard Spencer's "Miss Bob White," is a "scream" from beginning to end, has not missed a performance of that opera in four years.

Another Paducah boy is winning recognition as a composer. We have several, among them Prof. Harry Gilbert, Herbert Wallerstein, H. Miller Cunningham, Prof. John Dean, Prof. Wm. Deal, Miss Isabel Mohan and Miss Millian Lancaster, all of whom have had musical compositions published. Mr. Ed. Epstein, son of Mr. Morris Epstein, formerly of Paducah, but now of Louisville, is the latest Paducah composer, and is doing well. He has composed two songs that have made quite a hit, "Kiddling," a companion piece to "Teasing," and "Whither Away," a "coon song." The first named, "Kiddling," is being featured in the Isle of Bong Hong. The music to this was written by Allen Heinle, of Louisville.

Yesterday's Nashville American says of Paul Gilmore's "Capt. Debonnaire," which will be presented at The Kentucky theatre tomorrow after noon and night:

Many of the people in the two big audiences that greeted Paul Gilmore in "Capt. Debonnaire" at the Vendome Wednesday afternoon and night had probably seen the thrilling play before, but it appeared to be the unanimous verdict of those who saw it this time that they had seen the master of the role. Mr. Gilmore is an ideal Debonnaire in stature, voice, expression and bearing, and he was appreciated to the fullest extent. There are some, perhaps, who do not appreciate the kind of sword playing and daring that belongs to the character of Debonnaire, but this could not prevent them from fully appreciating the play as Paul Gilmore and his company presented it. There is not a tiresome dialogue or an uninteresting feature in the show, for in the dramatization of the play Gilmore presents leaves out much of the book narrative and condenses the play into steady action. There is diversity in the scenes and novelty in the historical costumes and dances and the scenes are as natural as history depicts things in that age. 1669. The performance is inflated with a prologue, in which a perfect scene of the governor's house in Quebec is shown. The four succeeding acts are equally well staged and the scenery is so natural that it adds much to the beauty of the performance.

Mr. Gilmore is about as true picture of the D'Artagnan and Debonnaire type of French gallant as one could well imagine, and those who had seen him only in drawing-room plays could hardly believe that they were looking at Gilmore. He has the bearing of a military gallant and wears that fearless smile that proves him an actor of diversified qualities. He is also an ideal lover and is emotional enough when the occasion demands.

"The Woman in the Case" will be seen at The Kentucky next Thursday night. The play is the latest work of the famous dramatist, Clyde Fitch, who wrote "The Climbers," "Nathan Hale," "Beau Brummel," "Her Own Way," and numerous other popular successes. The plot of "The Woman in the Case," concerns society life in New York at the present time with a thrillingly dramatic story as a background to throw it into relief. Mr. Fitch has made all his characters very real and involved them in vital situations which appeal with equal force to the gallery patrons as they do to those of the orchestra seats. Although it has many sensational features, "The Woman in the Case" appeals to the heart. The cast is a notable one and includes Margaret Bonnett, Thos Coffin Cooke, Grace St. Clair, Mary Clowes, Minerva Florence, Robert Sanford and others.

The very popular operatic comedy, "The Chaperons," will be the attraction at The Kentucky Monday, matinee and night. This will be one of the most important offerings of the year, as the organization is of more than ordinary good repute, and during its engagement in this city will undoubtedly establish an enviable reputation as one of the brightest and best of modern musical comedies. The piece as it will be given here, it is promised, will be identical with the New York presentation.

A GOOD YEAR

Has That Been For the Carnegie Library of Paducah?

The Carnegie library board will hold its regular monthly meeting Tuesday night at the library, and will allow accounts and wind up the business of the old year.

"We have had excellent patronage in the library in all departments," a member of the board declared, "and are more than pleased with the development of the library appetite in Paducah. The gradual training towards a better class of literature among people who heretofore read merely trashy stuff, is very gratifying; the people are being trained to read a better quality of matter and the call for books of a scientific nature is also very conspicuous. There are but few books we carry in stock which are not sought and we are glad that the library has passed such an excellent year."

The board will not buy more books for some time, having recently bought $1,500 worth. The city has just allowed $1,300 to the library and this will settle the book bill.

CAIRO DOPE

THEY ARE NOT AFTER LAND
DOWN THERE.Bulletin Wants Manager Chief Lloyd
To Do Some "Missionary Work."

(Cairo Bulletin.)

The club offering $400 for land is probably that at Cairo, as the owners of this organization are about the only ones who would offer such a price for a player in the Kitty league. Cairo has always wanted land and would probably pay that amount in a minute if they could get the big fellow. However, the money would have to be raised on the outside as there is little chance of the Cairo organization starting the coming season with much money on hand. Two years ago the club made money, but last year the earnings and more went to the bad. The Cairo management, however, know that to draw crowds a winner must be had and hard efforts will be made to land a good team there.—Vincennes Capital.

No, no, Perry it wasn't Cairo, but at the same time we think land a very good man and Grillo is making a mistake when he lets land go for Fred Abbott. As to the finances of the Cairo club, don't let that worry you. We're waiting on Tom Lawson's copper pool, and, then to boot, the club loaned out a big bunch of money on Wall street Wednesday at 90 per cent. See? and then, again, the club has plenty of friends in Cairo. They may not have as much money as John "Dee" or Little "Gee," but they are not near so tight as either of these two charitable persons.

It is a "leettle" too early to talk real live baseball matters. That going the rounds at present is merely on the skirmishing order. Everybody is quietly signing players and building up pennant winners. By the way, more pennants are won out of season than any other time. No one ever heard of an aspirant for the cellar championship in the winter months.

Jacksonville hasn't been heard from in sometime. The city needs a little more missionary work. Who'll do it? Here's a chance for Lloyd of Paducah, to make a trip over the circuit and do some real live work as an organizer instead of expelling himself in the columns of the Cincinnati Inquirer.

BEATS 'EM ALL

Kentucky Is Foremost State in Raising Tobacco.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 29.—Kentucky leads the United States in the acreage and value of this year's tobacco crop. Its crop is more than twice the size and value of the North Carolina tobacco crop, which is next in importance. Kentucky, according to a bulletin just made public by the department of agriculture, has raised 275,874 acres of tobacco this year, making a total production of 228,975,420 pounds, or an average yield of 830 pounds per acre. The average price per pound is 7 cents, making Kentucky's total crop for 1905 worth $16,028,279.

This is just about one-third of the value of the tobacco raised in the United States, the total being 632,032,769 pounds grown; 776,112 acres, worth 7.7 cents a pound, or a total of $48,674,118.

FINANCE COMMITTEE

Passed On About $15,000 Worth of Accounts Yesterday.

The joint finance committee of the general council met yesterday afternoon at the city hall to wind up the year's financial business for the city. It passed on about $15,000 worth of accounts. There is about $16,000 in the city treasury with which to pay outstanding accounts.

The committee will recommend the allowance of $1300 to the Carnegie library, that amount being due the trustees from the appropriation. Four thousand dollars was ordered set aside for the sinking fund with which to pay off public improvement bonds. The fund now contains about $20,000.

Ernst, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, for a caucus of the Republican members of each branch of the general assembly and a joint caucus to be held in the parlors of the Capitol hotel in Frankfort Tuesday morning, January 2, at 10:30 o'clock.

It is probable that the republican caucus nominee for United States senator will be named at the meeting of the joint caucus.

A New Secret Order.

Madisonville, Ky., is the home of a new fraternal organization known as the Home Protectors. It combines the insurance feature with the social. A lodge has already been organized at Madisonville with a membership of almost 100 and immediately after the first of the year locals will be installed in all the neighboring towns.

The officers of the supreme office which is located in Madisonville are as follows: J. R. Sabiston, supreme Chief Protector; C. O. Orsborn, Supreme Secretary; C. H. Murphy, Supreme Financial Protector; J. D. Sory, Supreme Medical Director. The Supreme Trustees are E. Jennings, M. J. Clarke, of Madisonville, and C. E. Suggs, of Henderson.

There are many new features in the insurance department of the order. The insurance is conducted on the graded certificate plan instead of the classified rate plan. By this method there will never be any increase in rate on the certificate issued.

In addition to the straight life insurance feature the local orders will pay sick and burial benefits and embrace many other features.

The ritualistic work is said to be very fine. It was gotten up entirely by Ed Hendricks.

A Most Happy and Prosperous New Year to One and All

A HAPPY NEW YEAR to you, one and all! As dear old "Rip" says, "May you live long and prosper." And may the worst day of the new year be as good as the best of the one just closing.

Just at this time we have every reason to congratulate ourselves upon the favors and blessings of a most prosperous year, and we want to thank you, our friends, who have made it possible. We have had the best year the house of Weille ever enjoyed, but, true to our ambitions and endeavors, the new year shall surpass it, if our efforts go for aught. We have a host of plans for the new year—plans that will mean much to you, but we shall not unfold them at this time, but in a few days, however. We are now shaping up our stock after the great inroads made in it by the Christmas rush, and shall from time to time make you many interesting announcements like the one below:

IRON FURNACE TALK.

Is Revived by Discovery of a Five-Foot Vein at Henderson.

Henderson, Ky., is very much excited over the discovery of a five-foot vein of coal right there almost at Henderson. It is 500 feet below the surface of the ground, and is said to be the finest strike made in years in Kentucky.

The Henderson papers say that there is already talk of using the coal for the iron furnace in this section, and as it can be easily coked, from reports, this would make it easy to get fuel for the Paducah iron furnace, and those at Grand Rivers when the latter have been altered. The main trouble with the operation of the furnaces in this section has been getting the coke necessary to run them, the coal found in Kentucky being little adapted to coking.

Washington, Dec. 29.—The federal party in the Philippines has issued a manifesto, copies of which were received here and among the various propositions advocated are the following:

FOXY TOMMY.

It Is Thought by Some That He Is Really "Maklu" De Mon."

Cleveland, O., Dec. 29.—Frank Rockefeller, brother of John D. Rockefeller, the Standard Oil magnate, speaking of Thomas W. Lawson, of Boston, said last night:

"I don't think Lawson is being cleaned up. In fact, I have an idea that he has made more money in the last few weeks than he ever did before. I do not know anything about it—my views are just a guess—but I feel sure Lawson is far too shrewd a speculator ever to have let himself get as short of the market as reports have made him out."

RIVER FRONT ELEVATOR.

From Evansville we get a reminder. The Sun believes in making suggestions that are practicable, reasonable and that will be profitable. Years ago, if someone had suggested it, and the people could have fully realized the value of the suggestion, Paducah would have built a water works plant at comparatively small cost, and would now have a property worth possibly hundreds of thousands of dollars. Paducah elected to have private capital build it, and today the plant is worth over half million dollars. This might all have been the city's, had foresight been as effective as retrospection.

Attention is called to this one case simply to emphasize the importance of a "stitch in time." We have a suggestion to renew that we made several years ago—and then before that.
It is for a freight hoisting elevator on the levee. For years and years the only way to get freight up the levee in Paducah has been by hauling it in wagons. This is a crude, unsatisfactory and costly manner of doing it.
Since Paducah became such an important river port years ago, the merchants, steamboat men and consumers of goods of all kinds, have had to pay out, directly and indirectly, thousands upon thousands of dollars simply for getting goods from the wharf to the top of the hill. It has cost in time, labor, wear and tear on teams and vehicles, and in other ways, an enormous sum, and yet with all our progressive, enterprising men with money to invest, no one has yet essayed to establish a freight elevator which in a few years would pay for itself, and most of the proceeds thereafter be clear profit. The following is what a member of the Evansville business men's association is quoted as having said on the subject:

"The new wharfbow will not in any way interfere with the plan of the committee appointed by the Evansville Business Association to push the construction of a hoisting elevator.

"We are determined to build it and to do it in the shortest possible time. Our plan at present is the formation of a corporation with a capital stock large enough to do the work. The elevator will be placed at a convenient place on the levee and will hoist freight of any description and size from the boats to the level of the street above.

"The increase of traffic on the river would make the projected elevator an absolute necessity to Evansville.
Much must depend upon the appropriation by congress of money to guarantee a 9-foot stage all the year around. This would result in a sort of revival among the rivermen of the second greatest highway of trade of the nation."

We are willing to submit it to the judgment of any sensible business man: First, if Paducah is not greatly in need of an elevator of this description; second, if it is needed would it not pay? third, if it would pay, why doesn't someone take up the project and build it? It would save an enormous amount of money, time and labor and dispense with the atrocious evils practiced on helpless beasts on the river front every day in the year. It would pay.

Who is going to follow the example of Evansville, and organize a company in Paducah to build a similar elevator?

THE KERNEL OF THE CASE.

Here it is in a nutshell, says the Louisville Herald: Great Britain has free trade, America a protective system. The result, stated by the American Economist, is this:

"Great Britain's 40,000,000 people export about the same as our 80,- 000,000 people, or twice as much per capita. And yet a large portion of her 40,000,000 are suffering for the want of food and clothing and shelter. All of which goes to show that many foreign markets are not as good as one home market, and a home market is only assured by protection."

England's free trade policy has built up one class of products to the effacement of food-producing industries. England has factories, but no farms. Hence the Economist declares:

"If England only had 5,000,000 prosperous farmers and their families to want implements, clothing and other articles of necessity, convenience and comfort, not so many workmen would be idle and not so many wives and children starve. A fiscal policy that destroys agriculture destroys the nation."

The United States will stick to a policy that insures its people both prosperous factory and productive farm.

The anti-machine democratic organs are becoming quite rabid throughout the state, and the man who dares to come out for the machine does not find his path decorated with floral emblems. The hotter the fight, however, the better for the republican party. Each side gives the people a glimpse of the shortcomings of the other, and it may eventually turn out to be a kilkenny cat affair, with the republican party the sole political survivor in the state.

Gov. Hanly, of Indiana, is not basking in the limelight. While Gov. Folk is spending much of his time going about the country exhibiting himself and making after-dinner speeches, and Gov. LaFollette is packing his trunk to leave the state and go to the senate, Gov. Hanly is staying at home chopping off the grafters, and asking unworthy office holders to resign.

The new county proposed to be created in Kentucky from Ohio, Daviess, Grayson and Breckinridge counties, will be republican, and it is proposed to call it "Goebel county." It is presumed that if the democrats can stand it, the residents of the county can get along with the name.

The gunboat Paducah is being placed in active service early after her completion, and has been sent to San Domingo to guard American interests. If she gets the opportunity it goes without saying that she will be a credit to us and the government.

American interests are being sedu-lously looked after in St. Petersburg, Venezuela, San Domingo, China and a few other places, but Americans on the Isle of Pines must continue to be dominated by a few dingy Cubans, and paddle their own canoe.

TIE BOATS MEET

THE PAVONIA TRIED TO CROSS
IN FRONT OF A TOW.

Shanty Boat Struck By the Castalia and Wrecked—Both Are Ayer-Lord Boats.

A serious steamboat accident was narrowly averted about 11:30 o'clock this morning in front of the city.

The towboat Castalia was coming into the bank with a several thousand tons this morning and the Pavonia, with a shanty boat, was going out for the Cumberland river. The Pavonia was crossing the Tennessee diagonally and the tow of ties was headed for the bank, coming upstream. Both boats blew their whistles to pass and the Pavonia it appeared, tried to cross in front of the tow. The pilot evidently thought he could make it and both boats kept their wheels going. Several men on the bank saw the boats were going to touch and rushed to a good spot to view it. Sure enough they hit. The shanty boat was between the Pavonia and tow and it was so badly crushed that it almost sank. It was cut loose and allowed to float on down the river but later was caught and landed. The damage to the shantyboat was probably $150 or more.

The front of two barges was crushed,
one badly so. This one in particular had to be protected with tarpaulin.
The Pavonia is also slightly damaged.

River men who saw the collision say that if the shantyboat had not been on the side it was that the Pavonia would have been sent to the bottom of the river. The Castalia had an unusually big load according to Capt. Henry Baker, local manager of the Ayer and Lord Tie company, and there was a stiff wind blowing the Pavonia down stream as she was trying to get across and out of the way.

Both boats and the tow of ties belong to the Ayer and Lord Tie Co.

BIG FOUR WRECK

MR. AND MRS. C. M. BUDD AND MR. THOMAS MORTON IN IT.

None of Them Seriously Hurt—No
One Was Killed in the Accident.

Three Paducahans were in a wreck
on the Big Four near Kankakee, Ill., yesterday, but none was seriously hurt. They were Mr. and Mrs. C. M.
Budd, and Mr. Thomas Morton. All were en route to Chicago. Mr. Budd was reported in the press dispatches as seriously hurt, but a telegram received from him last night states that he and Mrs. Budd were only slightly injured. They are now at the Auditorium Annex Chicago.

Mr. Morton telegraphed relatives yesterday that he was uninjured.
Mr. Budd is general manager in this section for the West Kentucky Coal company but was formerly local manager. He lives in Paducah, and he and his wife are well-known and popular in Paducah society.

Mr. Morton is now assistant traveling freight agent for the National railroad of Mexico.

The following account of the accident was sent out last night:

Kankakee, Ill., Dec. 28.—Fast mail train No. 37 on the Big Four railroad was wrecked at Waldron, Ill., four miles east of here today. The seriously injured are:

Harry L. Ware, of Chicago; John Williams, of Indianapolis; C. M.
Budd, of Paducah, Ky.; Mrs. J. G.
Bailey of Chicago and Walter Kerr, of Aurora, Ind., mail clerk.

The train was two hours late and running nearly 70 miles an hour when it struck a broken rail. The engine and nine of the eleven coaches were dished but not overturned.
The gas tank on one of the Pullman cars ignited but the blaze was soon extinguished. Six hundred yards of track was torn up.

HIT WITH BEER BOTTLE.

Chas. Hagerty, An Umbrella Mender, Painfully Hurt.

Charley Hagerty, an umbrella mender, was hit by some unknown person last night on lower Broadway, presumably in a saloon. A wound six inches long was inflicted in his scalp and Dr. L. L. Smith, who has an office at Second and Broadway, sewed it up about 10 o'clock last night.

About 3 a. m. Patrolmen Cross and Terrell locked Hagerty up and this morning he was released. The man did not know who hit him or where it took place. He was drunk and only remembered being in a room. Patrolman Terrell said that Hagerty had been hit with a beer bottle.
Hagerty has three or four pals with him.

Secret Wedding Announced.

Madisonville, Ky., Dec. 29.—Much surprise was caused here by the announcement of the secret marriage early last June of Miss Annett Sights and J. Norman King, both well known young people. The marriage was kept a secret even from the nearest relatives and the closest friends of the young people and it was not until they were ready themselves to give out the surprising news that anyone had the slightest intimation that they were man and wife and had been for half a year.

Miss Sights is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sights.

PADUCAH BANKING CO.

STARTED TO PADUCAH

And That Was the Last Heard of a Mayfield Darky.

Inquiry has been made in various places in Paducah for Andrew Collins, a Mayfield negro who has disappeared, but no trace of him has been found.

The Mayfield papers say that Collins has been missing since Sunday and his relatives have become alarmed for fear he has been foully dealt with or has died suddenly from heart failure. He has been employed for several years by G. N. Featherston, the meat dealer. Sunday morning he met a friend and took on several Christmas "toddies." He left the Featherston home saying he was going to Paducah. Inquiries to his visiting places in Paducah fail to reveal any information regarding his whereabouts. He has not been seen in Paducah during this time and no word can be heard from him. Collins is over 50 years old and is a quiet and industrious negro.

DISTILLERIES START.

Quite a Number in Kentucky Begin Operation Soon.

The first of the year will mark the starting of a number of distilleries in the state, but the two in Paducah will not be in operation for some time. The Terrell distillery will begin operation Feb. 1st and will run until July. Mr. A. S. Terrell says that whiskey made in the spring is the best, and makes most of his then.

The Hessig distillery is in litigation, and it is not known when it will start.

Four of the "trust" distilleries started yesterday at Louisville. They are Nelson County Distillery, daily capacity 800 bushels; Melwood distillery, daily capacity 849 bushels; W. J. O'Hearn distillery, daily capacity 1,388 bushels, and Marlon County distillery, daily capacity 926 bushels.

The distilleries named will turn out 1,783,000 gallons of whiskey in the next 100 days.

The firemen at Station No. 2, 10th and Clay streets, were treated to a surprise this morning and for a time believed they were suffering from a nightmare.

It is not a surprise to the firemen to be called out to a fire but when they find the blaze right there they have a right to doubt their senses. About 4:30 o'clock this morning they were awakened from their slumber by the fierce crackling sounds of burning wood. In the rear of the station they saw flames leaping high into the air and rushing down the ladder, they made for the rear of their station house to find an out house in a mass of flames. They soon extinguished the blaze and the fire did little damage, the out house being of little value. The origin of the blaze is unknown.

Fire played a very curious prank at the residence of Mr. Henry Theobald, the well known I. C. wood worker, of 1611 Tennessee street yesterday.

Mr. Theobald had gone to work at the shops and his wife was in the kitchen when she smelled smoke. Going into the bedroom she found the bed in a mass of flames. The mattress, feather bed and bedding were burned off the bed, and the flames had begun to eat into the woodwork of the bedstead.

Mrs. Theobald secured buckets of water and without assistance extinguished the blaze. The fire department were not called out, but had the blaze not been discovered when it was, it might have resulted in a serious fire. The family was unable to learn the origin of the fire.

MANY CLAIMS

Are Piling In Against the Defunct Home Purchasing Co.

Claims against the defunct People's Home Purchasing company are piling in on Attorney Cecil Reed, one of the receivers of the concern, and there are many more yet to be revealed.

Mr. Reed stated this morning that he was preparing his report of the claims and expected to file it the first day of January term of the McCracken circuit court. It will be very lengthy.

The liabilities, or indebtedness of the company, according to Mr. Reed, will run to about $30,000. He estimates the resources at $5,000. The claims now in his office make a large pile, there being several hundred of them.

ALMOST OVER.

No More Quail Hunting After Sunday Until Next November.

Sunday is the last day that quail can be legally killed. The law goes into effect Monday, but as December 31 is on Sunday the probability is that few will be hunted that day.

Dr. Frank Lloyd, a great bird hunter, stated this morning that the crop of birds this year had not been hurt. He said they were still as numerous as ever. Nearly any place a hunter goes he finds birds, and plenty of them. Tomorrow there will be many hunters in the fields. Next year the crop of birds should be immense. The protection afforded them by the game law has resulted in the great number.

TENNESSEE BOY

Convicted Through a Misunderstanding, Is Pardoned.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 29.—Governor Beckham yesterday issued a pardon to Joe Landis, a sixteen-year-old boy, whose home is in Chattanooga, but who was sent to the penitentiary for one year for housebreaking from Grant county. The boy's mother and father have been in Frankfort for a week and have spent all of their efforts in gathering evidence to show the governor that the boy is not guilty.

The boy started from Chattanooga to Ludlow, Ky., where he was to get employment in a machine shop. He struck up with several tramps, and the latter broke into a store in Williamstown. The men gave Landis a shirt and some socks, which were found on him when he was arrested. He entered a plea of guilty to an indictment charging housebreaking under a misunderstanding and was sentenced to one year of imprisonment.

The mother of the boy learned of his conviction and came to Kentucky at once to help him. She looks old and worn, but there were tears in her eyes and joy in her face when Gov. Beckham handed her the pardon. The boy was released at once and will return to Chattanooga with his parents.

INTO RIVER.

Several Flat Cars Ran, But No Damage Resulted.

Yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock as the transfer boat was landing at the Illinois Central incline, five flat cars, two loaded with piling started down the incline side track and ran into the river, one of them coming up under the bow of the transfer boat and raising it some distance into the air.

An engine was sent down and coupled to the runaways, and they were pulled out of the river without damage. There was a delay of about an hour to the passenger train on the transfer boat, on account of a pair of wheels getting off the track when the car raised the boat's bow.

CHAPTER VIII.

NOW that I had given my pursuers the slip I was confident that I should not be at further trouble with them for the present, for once I and my parcel were out of their sight for any space of time there could be little doubt in their minds that I would accept the chance to dispose of it. But, as a matter of fact, I did nothing of the kind. The document would be of little use deposited in some London safe. It might be of considerable value down at the castle. I still hugged my secret in my pocket and, hugging it, set out next morning to find Sheppard. I caught him upon his return about midday and opened the situation to him over lunch. It did me good to see his eyes sparkle at the recollection.

"Why, this is the seventeenth century at least, Ned," said he in his excitement. "A treasure, murderers and a high handed, murderous gang! Do I stand on my head or my heels?" And he snatched his thigh in sheer joyousness.

"This is well enough," I replied, "but you forget that it is no child's play. This is mighty serious, if I have a notion of the men, and we must face the case pretty brazenly and boldly if we decide to go forward."

He sprang from his chair. "My dear fellow, you amaze me," said he. "You talk in this dubious way about going forward, with an adventure like this ahead! If you cock a white feather, my good Ned, I will take the place of your hands and carry on the game on my own account. That's my feeling."

"So far, good," said I. "I wanted to be quite open with you, and, as for that, between you and me I have every intention of sticking to it. But this is the least part of the matter. We can make up our minds to go on, but what is going on?"

Sheppard picked up a time table. "Impatience," said he, "to catch the 3:45 train to Raymond. If you'll drive straight to your rooms I'll meet you at Paddington."

When I got to the station he was as good as his word, and, stimulated by his high spirits, I entered boldly into possible plans, in which occupation, we passed most of the journey.

The twenty-four hours had passed uneventfully at the castle, but I found Montgomery on the watch and very eager. He had armed himself with a shotgun, which he dragged about with him very ostentatiously, and indeed I had some ado to prevent him sitting down to dinner with it. Sheppard had been informed of his presence, and the two promised to be capital friends. Sheppard always had a way direct to the heart of new acquaintances and, with his indomitable gaiety and his impulsive energy, was exceedingly attractive to Montgomery. I myself was used with sincere respect, tempered by a little awe; but the boy showed immediate signs of a positive affection for Sheppard.

That evening we held a council of war. "And, first, Montgomery must be initiated into the mystery. The bare facts took away his breath and inspired him apparently more with a desire for bloodshed than for the treasure itself.

Montgomery on the watch.

"I can tell you this, Mr. Sheppard, that if I sight either of the scoundrels within shooting range I'll empty both barrels into them on the off chance. And of that I'll give 'em warning."

"Bravo!" said Sheppard, slapping him on the back and smiling his pleasant smile. "You're the man for my money, old cock!"

"And now," I resumed, "we are brought front to front with affairs. We have half the paper. How are we to get possession of the other?"

"It is plain enough," said Sheppard, "that one of those fellows, Sercombe or Hood, has it—Hood for choice, and a pretty scoundrel he must be, for he you say of him. You must introduce me to your friend Hood. I have a fancy for Hood."

As it fell out he had an earlier chance of the acquaintance than either of us anticipated. Shortly after breakfast on the following morning the maid brought me word that Captain Sercombe was in the library and begged to see me.

"Here is a pretty piece of impudence," said Sheppard, smiling. "You found the man, but I like him! By all means let us have him up."

He looked at me. "Not at all," said I. "But since there is nothing to steal in the library save some hundreds of dusty volumes, let him wait upon our pleasure."

"And my toe," growled Montgomery, assuring a feroocious expression.

"No, no, my dear lad," said Sheppard, with his gentle and insinuating smile. "You are too forward, too precocious in your arguments. Let us hang the captain, whom, I confess, I am dying to see well basted, but let it be by more diplomatic processes."

"Very well, come on," said I, rising, for, to say the truth, I was curious to know the man's business with me. We descended in file into the library. Sercombe, who was staring out of the window and curling his mustache with an air of abstraction, turned rapidly and, putting his heels together, gave me a military bow.

"Ah, here is my young friend of the phreatic," he exclaimed lightly, nodding briefly to Montgomery, who fixed an astute and somewhat gloowering glance upon him. Then his eye fell on Sheppard, whom he observed with dispassionate curiosity.

"I was in hopes to have met you alone, Mr. Greatorox," with a little hesitation showing in his voice.

"These are my friends," said I, "from whom I have no secrets."

"Allow me to introduce myself," said Sheppard politely, stepping forward. "Since Mr. Greatorox has overlooked the formality, Reginald Sheppard, Captain Sercombe—a gentleman, as I hope, but of no occupation and a vast deal of ambition, who is proud to make the acquaintance of so notorious a free companion as yourself."

Sercombe stared, somewhat discomfited by this deliverance, but, recovering himself, smiled genially. "The pride, sir, is on my side to encounter so pleasant a gentleman." Then he looked at me. "I take it, Mr. Greatorox, that I may state my business here."

"By all means," I answered curtly, "and the sooner the better."

"To be brief, Mr. Greatorox," he said, "I have come to strike a bargain with you. I will confess that so far you have outmaneuvered us. I will go so far as to say that I thought I had you cornered yesterday. Yesterday morning I would not have put 2 crows up on your appearance in the race. But you have sharp eyes, sir, and you are a sharper man than I had reckoned. But, upon the other hand, where do you stand? I ask you to consider that. And what price do you put on your chances? You have, I should guess, about as much chance to lay your hands on what you want as I have. Is that so?"

"I am not here to discuss my chances with you, but to listen to you, sir," said I. "What have you to say?"

He made a slight grimace, delivering it instinctively to Sheppard and went on: "Well, I suppose what you have to say will keep. What I have won't, if we are either of us to get any further. We stand upon equal terms now, Mr. Greatorox, as you will see, but those terms are impracticable. You have only one half of a secret, and we have the other, and it will take a cleverer man than you to find our half, as I make no doubt you also have yours in pretty safe hiding. I don't reckon to hunt London for a piece of paper. But this brings me to my point. Let us show our hands. Let me see what you have in yours, and I give you the word of a gentleman you shall see all mine."

He paused and interrogated me a moment silently.

"Since the captain gives his word as a gentleman," put in Sheppard's snave voice, "I think we stand on safe ground. For my part I am quite willing to give mine as a burglar."

Sercombe flashed a glance of annoyance at him.

"Will you be more explicit?" said I. "I thought you took me," said he.

Heart Like a Clock

The pulsation of the heart marks the passage of the blood through the veins, just as the ticking of a clock indicates the flight of moments of time. Palpitation, fluttering or irregular action reveals the fact that the heart is running down—and unless strengthened, is liable to stop at any time under some weakening influence, such as excitement, over-work, or intense mental or physical strain. To regulate the heart action, you should take Dr. Miles' Heart Cure when any symptoms of a weak heart is apparent. It has no equal.

"Sometime ago I had a very severe pain around my heart, and most of the time I had a heavy beating or throbbing of the heart. It would beat so that when I lay down at night it would sound like a small clock in bed with me. I could count the ticking. With every little exercise, or walking I felt like my heart would give out, and I would be so tired I would have to lie down and rest. I suffered quite a while in this way, then I concluded to try Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. I had not taken it long until I began to feel easier, and so continued, and the medicine entirely cured me. I am very grateful for the great good I received from Dr. Miles' Heart Cure."

GRIP-IT! The cold cure that does the most for you.

"It's plain enough. Let us piece the document together, read it and start fair on the knowledge. That places us again on equal terms, only with this difference, that the best man wins. Whereas now a man may be taken himself and fall till the crack of doom."

Sheppard threw an eager glance at me, and I read assent in it. Nor was I indisposed to agree to the proposal, odd and unexpected as it came and involving us, as I foresaw, in all the outrages of actual warfare. Yet upon so pregnant a proposition I dared not make up my mind on the instant, and I suppose the man saw this, for, turning, he moved to the windows again and looked out upon the lawns, humming to himself. Ere he had turned again and faced me with his question in his eyes I had made up my mind.

"I agree," I said.

Sheppard whistled softly and, as if limiting the captain, leaned forth upon the window. A light of satisfaction played in Sercombe's gray-green eyes for an instant. As for Montgomery, I do not suppose that he had any clear notion of what it was all about.

"Then," said Sercombe, "the sooner the better, and what time better than today?"

"I agree to today," I replied.

"Good! And now there remain only the place and time," said he.

"I have no wish to have my hand broken," said I blithely, "or to be mistaken for a hare, and so I say the easiest. If you grant that, you may fix your own time."

"I was in hopes," he said, smiling, for he took no offense at my plainness of speech, "that we might have settled the matter over a little dinner. Hood, an excellent host, I had, is anxious to show you what the Woodman can do when he spreads himself. And a full stomach, warmed with wine, is better for business, as my young friend here knows. But you shall have it your own way."

Coughing Spell Caused Death.

"Harry Duckwell, aged 25 years, choked to death early yesterday morning at his home, in the presence of his wife and child. He contracted a slight cold a few days ago and paid but little attention to it. Yesterday morning he was seized with a fit of coughing which continued for some time. His wife sent for physician but before he could arrive, another coughing spell came on and Duckwell died from suffocation."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat, Dec. 1st, 1904.

NATIONAL HEADQUARTERS

Of the Tobacco Growers Will Be Located at Owensboro.

It is now all but certain that the headquarters of the National Tobacco Growers' association will be removed to Owensboro from Indianapolis. The change was suggested at the meeting of the association at Owensboro last November and the proposition has been gaining favor ever since. National Secretary G. Hayes Taylor, who is in charge of the office at Indianapolis, feels strongly the necessity for the change. At Indianapolis he is isolated from the tobacco men and at Owensboro he would be "in the thick of the fight."

Remarkable Cure.

"I was much afflicted with sciatica," writes Ed C. Nud, of Iowa City, Sedgewick Co., Kan., "going about on crutches and suffering a deal of pain. I was induced to try Ballard's Snow Liniment, which relieved me."

"I used three 50c bottles. It is the greatest liniment I ever used; have recommended it to a number of persons; all express themselves as being benefited by it. I now walk without crutches, able to perform a great deal of light labor on the farm." 25c, 50c and $1.00 at Alvey & List's.

Mayor D. A. Yelser is at work on his annual message, which he hopes to have completed in time to read to the board of aldermen next Thursday evening. It is customary to read the message to the council first, but the mayor will be unable to get all the necessary data by Monday.

Cured Paralysis.

W. F. Baldy, P. O. True, Texas, writes: "My wife had been suffering five years with paralysis in her arm, when I was persuaded to use Ballard's Snow Liniment, which cured her all right. I have also used it for old sores, frostbites and skin eruptions. It does the work." Sold by Alvey & List.

RUNNING WELL

LOUISVILLE DIVISION OF I. C. IS IN FINE SHAPE.

No Reduction Expected in Local Shops Except Possibly a Small One in Working Forces.

Supt. A. H. Egan and Roadmaster E. L. Thompson, of the Louisville division of the I. C., were in the city last night on business.

The Louisville division is running smoothly and although the business on this division has fallen off since the holiday rush, all crews are at work cleaning up the old business. The creation of the Nashville division took a great deal of work off both Supt. Egan and Roadmaster Thompson's shoulders, and they are running the Louisville division better than ever because of the fact that they can devote their entire time to the 226 miles between Paducah and Louisville and the 35 miles between Cairo and Paducah.

The road has experienced a very profitable year and Paducah shop employees have been kept steadier at work than ever before. Larger forces and longer hours have been maintained and when asked about a probable cut in work forces this winter in the local shops, a prominent official stated that he did not expect any change except possibly a small decrease in working force the first of the year.

TUNE ON PHONOGRAPH

Jeffersonville Magistrate Introduces Novel Feature Into Wedding.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Dec. 29.—Magistrate Jack Delanty, of Jeffersonville, has introduced a novel feature into the matrimonial business. His wedding parlor is luxuriously furnished, and the most interesting thing in it is a phonograph.

While he is binding the lives of elopers in the bonds of marriage the machine discourses the "Wedding March." The innovation is attracting considerable attention, and the happy couples that are united by him go away with pleasing remembrances of their visit to Jeffersonville.

Yesterday afternoon James Romer and Miss Gertrude Kennedy, of Louisville, went to Jeffersonville and were married while the sweet strains of "Mendelssohn" were produced by the phonograph. They were delighted, and left declaring they would send all of their unmarried friends to the place where they could get married with music accompaniment.

Dying of Famine

In its torments, like dying of consumption. The progress of consumption, from the beginning to the very end, is a long torture, both to victim and friends. "When I had consumption in its first stage," writes Wm. Myers, of Cearfoss, Md., "after trying medicines and a good doctor, in vain, I at last took Dr. King's New Discovery, which quickly and perfectly cured me." Prompt relief and sure cure for coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchitis, etc. Positively prevents pneumonia. Guaranteed at W. B. McPherson's drug store, price 50c and $1.00 a bottle. Trial bottle free.

WHOLESALE SUITS.

Against Wholesale Beer Houses At Mayfield, Ky.

Mayfield, Ky., Dec. 29.—Nineteen suits have been filed against the local wholesale beer houses just outside of the city limits. The suits are filed in the name of the commonwealth of Kentucky at the instance of Commonwealth's Attorney W. H. Heister and County Attorney T. L. Wallace. Eleven of the suits are against the W. J. Lemp Brewing Co. for $100 in each case, the allegations being that the defendant has sold beer in five gallon lots inside the city limits.

Eight suits for $100 in each case were filed against the Cook Brewing company and the charges preferred in the petition are that the defendant has permitted beer to be drunk on the premises where it is sold.

Confederates to Thank Roosevelt.

Natchez, Miss., Dec. 29.—At a special meeting of the local camp of Confederate Veterans a committee was appointed to draft resolutions thanking President Roosevelt for his recommendation that the nation take care of Confederate graves and for the appointment of Gen. Will T. Martin as postmaster at Natchez and Capt. John Russell, a one-armed veteran, as collector of the port. The committee will report on January 8, 1905.

COOK SLEPT LATE.

And It Demonstrated That Mistakes Seldom Come Alone.

Lewis Stone, colored, an employee of the J. C. who had never been in police court before on any charge, "stumped his toe," figuratively speaking, and was fined $10 and costs for the fall.

Stone goes to work early and is always on time when the whistle blows, but he has always had breakfast in him heretofore. Yesterday morning the cook failed to get up in time to cook his breakfast and he was forced to go to work with an empty stomach.

He reprimanded the cook by slapping her. She became insulted and had a warrant sworn out. He was fined $10 and costs.

The case against Nannie Gray, colored, for breaking into the J. A. Gardner drug store, was continued.

Other cases were: Minnie Tice, colored, disorderly conduct, continued; Bettie Pollard, white, harboring a vicious dog, $5 and costs and the line suspended if she sends the dog into the county; Will Foster, colored, breach of the peace, on motion of the prosecution $3 and costs.

PATROLMAN NO LONGER.

Popular Gus Rogers Resting a Few Days Before Becoming Deputy Sheriff.

Officer Gus Rogers, whose big form has been familiar on Broadway for several years, is a patrolman no more. He is only a plain clothes citizen today. However he will be a deputy sheriff Monday and is using the few intervening days in recreation.

Patrolman Rogers resigned last night and did not go to work today. He appeared at the city hall, however, because of the fact that he is a witness in several city court cases. He has made the city a good and popular officer, and no officer could leave a better record behind. A substitute was put on today to fill out the place until the board of commissioners can elect a regular officer.

TO UNIONTOWN.

Body of Len Hardisty Was Taken for Burial.

Yesterday afternoon a brother of Len Hardisty, the young man who suicided in Dr. J. D. Robertson's office by taking carbolic acid because of a love affair, arrived in Paducah to take charge of the body.

This morning the remains, which had been embalmed and taken to a relative's house, were removed to the Paducah Undertaking Co. headquarters, prepared for shipment and sent to Uniontown, Ky., on the Joe Fowler. The funeral will be held as soon as the body reaches that place.
